

ENIC - Request a Statement of Comparability

ENIC is the UK National Information Centre for the recognition of international qualifications and skills

A Statement of Comparability compares overseas qualifications to the UK education system, comparing them to UK qualifications and framework levels.

Important information to note before applying for a Statement of Comparability

- Our experience indicates that often only the subject of Maths is considered equivalent to UK GCSE school certificates.
- International English certificates are unlikely to be comparable to a UK GCSE school grade (A* -C) as English will have been studied as a second language in the country where you completed High School (in the UK, the subject is studied at school as a first language).
- You are however welcome to upload English qualifications in addition to maths qualifications, as these will be assessed at no additional charge if uploaded at the same time.
- If you obtain a Statement of Comparability which indicates that your international qualification(s) aren't comparable to a UK GCSE school grade (A* -C), we will help you to book a free online Functional Skills test in English and/or maths to help you obtain the certificates you need.

Please speak to your coach for further guidance.

How to apply for a Statement of Comparability

If you would like a Statement of Comparability from ENIC, you can apply via the website www.enic.org.uk.

See the page below for steps on how to do this.

Once you have created your account with ENIC, you will be able to log in to upload documents and track the progress of your application.

You will need photographs or scans of your:
